Dear Tony,

Thank you for your email of 18 June highlighting the work of the Carmarthenshire Fishermen's Federation.

The health of our rivers plays an important role in the quality of recreation opportunities available. Whilst I am committed to improving opportunities for public access to the outdoors for recreation, I am mindful of the need to safeguard the natural environment, including land and water management.

I note the initiative your Federation is involved with, encouraging angling clubs and community groups to take care of local stretches of water. May I thank you and your volunteers for this important work, which I have brought to the attention of my officials.

Yours sincerely,

Hannah Blythyn AC/AM
